NEW MUSIC ON DA BLOCC!

SZA's

Long, ambitious, luxurious new album solidifies her position as a generational talent, an artist who translates her innermost feelings into indelible moments.

HH5-CEO Trayle

With its macabre textures and sinister flows, the fifth installment of CEO Trayle's Happy Halloween series unspools the rapper's fears and sorrows into one of the most original rap albums of the year.

PJ Harvey

Fans have waited a long time for this: a near-exhaustive collection of the singer's non-album tracks and orphaned gems, many of which rival her classic album cuts.

DJ JAM X:

THE MAN BEHIND THE LENSE

Professional photographers come to mind when it comes to gorgeous models in lingerie and bikinis. Working for prestigious media and fashion magazines, these photographers are also respected in their industry. Some photographers adore all models because of their warm nature and distinctive photography style.

Let's Meet DJ Jam X, The Man Behind the Lense.

Jam X, a famous DJ and photographer, is an international swimwear, lingerie and personal photographer based in the USA. Although he started his career as a DJ, he soon fell in love with photography and decided to take it up. He is currently partnering with a small group to create original content in the most desirable locations on earth for various businesses

He emerged on the music scene, performing at numerous clubs and private events around the country. He undoubtedly became known for his various manner of mixing songs from different musical genres due to his dedication and great musical ear. His holiday mixes can include dancehall, hip-hop, R&B, and pop, but they don't have to. Apart from his work in this field, he has collaborated with famous directors and models such as Queen Virdi, Santiago Mos, Nikku Foxx, and others.

"DJ Jam X" certainly lives up to his name in the entertainment industry and is a rising talent to watch in the DJ scene, thanks to his excellent musical taste and experience in musical entertainment. Everyone enjoys his presence and efforts. They are comfortable with him. As a result, they feel sexy, relaxed, and confident. Even if the model is inexperienced, he will find his most attractive angles, and with the proper training throughout the shoot, the results will be fantastic!

During an interview with Street Motivation Magazine, he said,

"I also give the model the freedom to trust her own judgment and do what she feels is right. I make sure that she understands that there is no right or wrong way to look at the situation and that I am interested in her personal attitude towards her. I don't really want my models to repeat or pose the way they did or studied before. We usually agree that it works for both of us if I add some ideas and comments to her actions".

As a multi-award-winning lingerie photographer, he adheres to the highest standards and procedures to ensure he meets customer expectations in the swimwear business while delivering timely results. Thanks to the high standard of his work, his respect for the task, and the fact that he is relaxed and enjoyable on set, he constantly receives repeat orders from clients and develops strong relationships. He said,

"Wake up with a view in a dream location and shoot all day with a fantastic model in a cozy studio or on an exotic and remote beach: wind in your hair, sun in your eyes, and sand between your toes, only time for healthy and delicious food and time to relax, chat and enjoy the views."

DJ Jam X carefully plans and flawlessly completes each project, allowing him to capture the eternal essence of incredible beauty, whether he's doing some DJ work, lingerie photography, or personal photography. We were fascinated by the results. Any client who wants to emphasize the originality and tenderness of their brand should work with Jam X. Jam X has many years of experience in photography and performing as a DJ. His expertise allows him to organize the shoot to get impressive lingerie photos. His work produces vivid photographs for any client that gives effective advertising campaigns.T

How to find love with a new partner

Finding love with a new partner can be a challenging and exciting journey. The key is to remain open-minded and patient with yourself. Take time to get to know yourself and what you truly desire in a partner. Once you understand yourself better, you can then more clearly communicate that to your potential partner. When you are out looking for a partner, take the time to get to know them. Ask questions and listen to their answers. Spend time together doing activities that you both enjoy and find out what you have in common. This can help to build a strong foundation for a relationship. Lastly, be willing to take risks and be vulnerable with your new partner. This can foster a deeper connection and trust. Good luck!

How to recognize a Narcissist

Recognizing a narcissist can be difficult, as they often present themselves in a favorable light and can be charming and persuasive. However, there are some signs that can be indicative of narcissistic behavior. These include: having an exaggerated sense of importance, a need for excessive admiration, a lack of empathy, and a desire to be perceived as perfect. Narcissists may also have a strong sense of entitlement and an inability to handle criticism or disappointment. If you think someone you know may be a narcissist, it is important to recognize their behavior and understand the impact it may have on your relationship.

When a Man loses his ability to have an erection

A man losing his erection can be a difficult and embarrassing experience. It is important to remember that this can happen to any man and is not necessarily a reflection of your manhood or worth. There are many potential causes for a man losing his erection, including stress, anxiety, fatigue, relationship issues, and physical health issues. It is important to talk to your doctor to get to the bottom of the issue and find the best way to manage it. Additionally, focusing on relaxation techniques, such as deep breathing and mindfulness, can help to reduce stress and increase physical and emotional wellbeing.

26-YEAR OLD FLORIDA MOTHER OF TWO DIES AFTER BBL SURGERY.

The family is still seeking answers about Jaynisha "Jayla" Williams, who was pronounced dead in October of 2021. She didn't wake up from the anesthesia after the operation she was given at Bet U Now a cosmetic surgery center, in Plantation, Florida. Latoshia Leggett, Jaynisha's mother, says the two of them traveled to the surgery center together. Jaynisha was scheduled to receive a breast augmentation and Brazilian butt lift. The mother waited in the waiting room. When she continued to ask how her daughter was doing every hour, she was told that everything was going well. Latoshia; and every hour they kept telling me that she's okay and that everything is going fine. As time passed moms became more concerned. She could hear sirens arriving to the center. Tennis shoes, also known as sneakers or trainers, are a type of shoe designed specifically for sports or other physical activities. The history of tennis shoes dates back to the late 19th century, when they were first used as a lightweight alternative to the traditional leather shoes used in the sport of tennis. The first tennis shoes were designed with a lightweight canvas upper, rubber sole, and lacing system. Over time, the technology used to make tennis shoes has evolved, with different materials and designs being used to make them even more comfortable and durable. Today's tennis shoes are designed with a range of materials, from lightweight mesh to synthetic leather, and feature technologies such as cushioning and stability systems. www.317medical.com

To begin with, how are you? And could you please tell our audience where you are from, "Balyztyk"?

I'm doing well, thank you for asking. I'm from Long Beach, California!

Who were some of your musical influences as a child and what inspired you to pursue a career as a hip-hop artist?

Like most people I was influenced by Michael Jackson but as far as being inspired to pursue a career in music goes, Baby and Slim mainly Baby were a major influence and inspiration for me taking this seriously!

What have some of your biggest challenges been in the music business?

Seeing the industry for what it is, accepting it and acting accordingly while still being independent!

What is your method approach and how long does it take you to write a record?

Seeing the industry for what it is, accepting it and acting accordingly while still being independent!

Give an example of your worst performance. What did this experience teach you?

I'm still in the process of learning! I've been fortunate enough to not have had a "bad" performance but I will say that I've had a situation where the turn out could have been better if I had been more hands on instead of trusting the other party to handle promotions!

What is it about music that evokes such strong emotions in you?

Expression! Being able to say what I wanted others to say or felt they should have said when I was on the fan side of music! Being able to be as real as I am on a record from my perspective knowing that someone else might hear it and say "finally, someone else feels the same way" is exciting to me!

Do you engage in any pastimes or interests besides music?

Most definitely, I'm an entrepreneur at heart so I'm always looking to invest my money or expand in business or learn more about business! I'm always learning something new that better my current situation and provides a brighter future plus I love traveling and see new things and meeting new people and learning from that experience!

Are you about to release a new single or album? If so, when can we anticipate its release?

Yes I have 3 new singles that are being set to be released coming up in 2023. One single will be released during the first quarter, I just haven't decided which single it will be yet!

Q&A With "Balyztyk"

 @Balyztyk
  /c/Balyztyk
  balyztyk

Which three music producers do you most want to collaborate with and why?

I'd have to say Dr. Dre, Mannie Fresh and Timbaland! Dre because he's a California legend and I know working with him directly would boost my skill and knowledge immensely because he's a perfectionist. Mannie Fresh because his style is truly unique and would boost my showmanship in my opinion! Timbaland because his beats would take my delivery to a higher level and would probably increase my creativity!

How can investors, producers, and booking agencies get in touch with you the best?

@Balyztyk or @dovegangrecords on IG would be the best way and the fastest way.

ARTIST. SPEAKER. HUMANITARIAN. THE QUEEN OF SPIRITUALLY- CONSCIOUS RAP

Native Latina is a multi-talented lyrical genius, dancer, songwriter, model, community activist, and healer who is the rising queen of rap. Citing E40 and Tupac as two of her greatest inspirations, Native Latina's songs are more than just club bangers. They are incredibly addictive and highly 'eargasmic', with an unforgettable message that evokes transformation in the hearts and souls of her listeners.

Native Latina, whose birth name is Kristena Manjarrez, was born and raised in the Inland Empire. Captivating audiences since her debut as Ladee Cream, she set the rap world ablaze with her debut, "Stood my Ground."

Although she quickly gained notoriety and was a big hit with music fans, the rap phenom took an unexpected 20-year hiatus from her promising career to raise her beloved daughter as a single mom after she lost her first love to gun violence and grandmother to cirrhosis.

While there are female rappers in the game who are topping the charts, none can match Native Latina's raw talent. Unique, versatile, diverse and unforgettable, she brings the heat on stage and in every dope word that she spits. Her infectious flow, insatiable tomboy swagger mixed with seductive, undeniable feminine sex appeal inspires the masses.

 @Native_latinaa

There's no one in the Hip-Hop game who can top her lyrical prowess, and She's the realest female rapper who is more than a pretty face. She's a global messenger and trendsetter who is taking Hip-Hop to a different level, and is demanding respect for all women in the rap game.

A spiritually-conscious artist, Native Latina's mission through her music is making a difference in people's lives. Native Latina is no stranger to the struggle. The incomparable lyricist boldly shares her darkest moments with her fans by revealing raw stories about love, heartbreak, loss, hustling, GOD, and spiritual transformation. She's living proof that with faith in GOD, determination and courage, you can overcome anything and live your dreams.

Q&A with Tmera

1. First off, how are you? And please inform our audience "Tmera" where your originally From?

I am doing great thank you! I am from Bakersfield, Ca.

2. What made you want to become a singer?

As far as I can remember I've been singing since I was about five, my dad was always singing around the house I would study him and eventually match notes with him as a baby. I grew up in a Christian household so I was at church four days out of the week maybe more as a pastors kid. I was in choir, leading songs and doing solos by the time I started elementary. But honestly watching TV shows like the Apollo Show, American Idol, 106 and Park, Making the Band etc. those had a big inspirational affect on my life. That's when it clicked for me I wanted to do exactly that.

3. We know that you was a contestant on our platform "Who Got The Dopest Set". How did you hear about it? And how did you feel about it winning the competition?

I heard about the event through a social media friend one day. I was looking for more places to perform and felt this would be a good opportunity for me. Winning the competition felt great, there was so much love in the room, shout out to everyone who came to support me that day and to EP for choosing me it was a great time.

4. What would you do if your audience looked tired or bored during your performance?

The show must go on ha-ha I might grab someone from the audience and sing to them, make it personal you know. I've never experienced that but hopefully I'll know how to change the temperature in the room.

5. Describe your worst performance. What did you learn from this experience?

I would say my worst performance was when I sang a solo at church and my voice cracked, I was so embarrassed lol but I continued to sing. I learned that day to always do vocal warmups before a performance and practice more often.

6. What's been some of your biggest hurdles in the music industry?

I guess one my biggest hurdles has been trying to promote myself through social media. There's so much going on in the media daily and trying to figure out my angle so I can gain more support has been challenging.

7. Do you have any hobbies or interests outside of music?

I have too many hobbies actually. I am a gym rat, I usually go to the gym about 5-6 days a week for mostly fitness gains but also it's been a great form of therapy. I am currently a student tattoo artist, just something I've always wanted to pick up and believe I'd be great in it. Also, I recently took interest in Muay Thai and plan on starting lessons in that soon to train to be a stunt double for action movies. Acting and modeling are always in my plans.

8. What is it about music that makes you feel passionate?

What makes me most passionate about music is the way it heals. There's music for every emotion, every situation, and I love how music finds individuals based on their mindsets. I'm not sure how it works for other people but I know music chooses me when I need it most, it's saved me many times.

9. Do you have a new single or album coming out soon? If so, when should we expect it to be released?

I haven't decided which single to drop next but I am always working on new music and plan on putting out a project in 2023.

10. Who are your top 3 music producers that you hope to work with?

Oh man, my top 3? I'm going to have to go with Pharrell, Timbaland, and Kanye.

11. What is the best way for investors, producers, and booking agents to reach you?

Currently all of my information is on my Instagram profile @yoitstmera. My email is in my bio. You may also reach out to my producer Shawn Diggy @Shawndiggy on Instagram.

 Downs 2”

If you haven't been paying attention, this indie artist has been consistently dropping heat and as everyone else knows, he should have dropped this heat a long time ago. he's staying on top of his game and continuing to deliver new music for his fans and more importantly, the streets. We enjoyed the full album and it's availalbe on spotify, google play, Pandora and more!

3 BEST MICROPHONE FOR PERFORMING ARTISTS

If you're looking for a microphone for performing artists, I would highly recommend the Shure SM7B, the Sennheiser e945, and the Audio-Technica AT2020. The Shure SM7B is great for vocalists and spoken-word performers, as it has a warm sound and is extremely durable. The Sennheiser e945 is a great choice for live performances thanks to its powerful sound and high feedback rejection. Lastly, the Audio-Technica AT2020 is a great all-rounder that's perfect for singers and instrumentalists alike. All three of these microphones are top-notch performers, so you can't go wrong with any of them.

Your Guide To The Underground

with Kia Knoester

1. First off, how are you? And please inform our audience "Kia" where your originally From?

I am doing great, thank you! I am a singer-soul writer originally from the other side of the Atlantic, The Netherlands.

2. What made you want to become a singer?

I grew up in a musical household. It's always been around me and on top of that I have a very supportive family. I didn't start singing until I was about 17 years old though. I've played piano, guitar, trumpet and French horn before that, so I did lay down a musical foundation. Then I started studying music for vocals, first Performing Art school, then my bachelor's in jazz & pop music, and after that the big switch from The Netherlands to Los Angeles where I finished my master's degree in Vocal Performance and specialized in Commercial Music. I started creating my own music down the line, set up my own live band and played a lot of shows. I started writing for production companies, movies, commercials, and tv-shows. Fast forward, here we are! I feel a sense of freedom when I sing. I love to share my interpretation of something and connect with peoples senses and emotions. I want people to feel something rather than impress them. Music to me is more like a self-journey, everyone has his/her own path and if my music takes you to where you need to go, then that's a beautiful thing.

3. We know that you was a contestant on our platform "Who Got The Dopest Set". How did you hear about it? And how did you feel about it winning the competition?

I saw a post popping up on Instagram and reached out. I initially thought it was just a performance to later find out that it was a competition. It felt incredibly amazing winning.

4. What would you do if your audience looked tired or bored during your performance?

I would try to make a connection with the audience with words and eye contact. I think it's so important to build a form of trust where it's safe enough to feel comfortable to share your art and them to feel comfortable enough to be able to connect with it.

5. Describe your worst performance. What did you learn from this experience?

I've had one performance at a festival where there were 6 sound engineers and the sound was terrible. I had constant feedback over my monitors and at some point I only heard a lower sub coming out of it. That made it really hard to sing a three part harmony with my background vocalists, with the front of house sound, and a stage that was outside. What I've learned from this situation though (because sometimes we don't always have the luxury to hire our own engineers) is that you have to be prepared and accept that things can go wrong and you have to deal with the cards that are on the table. It is what it is, but it shouldn't take away from your gift to the crowd.

6. What have been some of your biggest hurdles in the music industry?

The three biggest hurdles I can think of are 1. Being a woman in the industry. I've had many uncalled for situations where people are not sincere or where I've not been taken seriously.
2. Being an independent artist. As much as it is freeing in terms of the creative aspect, it comes with a lot of obstacles like having to finance everything yourself and wearing multiple hats in different disciplines.
3. The last one is more of an advice from my experience in this industry. You need to have a clear vision and a thick skin. Many people will try to take advantage of you and that's why it's so important to build a community with a team you can trust.

7. Do you have any hobbies or interests outside of music?

I love doing voice-overs, cooking, hiking, and clearing my mind every now and then at the beach.

8. What is it about music that makes you feel passionate?

Everything that I have written always connects on one level or another to something that I've either been through, good and bad, love or longing for, a perspective on something, or a based off of a dream. So in some ways it's like I'm writing journals, just in a musical form. It helps me in the sense of organizing my thoughts and processing certain emotions. Free therapy I'd say!

9. Do you have a new single or album coming out soon? If so, when should we expect it to be released?

Right now I am finishing up a new R&B EP. The first single was released last October, the next one is set to be released around the beginning of February and the whole EP will be available in March.

10. Who are your top 3 music producers that you hope to work with?

Grades, Kaytranada, Anderson .Paak

11. What is the best way for investors, producers, and booking agents to reach you?

For booking inquiries you can reach me at bookings@kiamusic.nl
For any other questions you can reach me at info@kiamusic.nl
Or shoot me a message on social media
Instagram: <https://instagram.com/kiaknoester>
Facebook: <https://fb.com/KIAMusicofficial>
Website: <https://kiamusic.nl>

12. Last but not least, we know your music has been placed in a few shows/films. How did that come about? And how has it helped you in your career?

I've had the opportunity to work with some very talented producers and film composers. This resulted in both Netflix placements as well as wide theater releases. This came about through word of mouth, friends of friends type of situation. That's why community building is so important in this industry. Getting some of these placements helped me getting my name in the game in the sync world and at the same time a push in my own artist project.
I want to write, record, and perform as much as I can. For my own solo project, but also for productions, TV shows, movies, and other artists. If I could do this 24/7 I'd be the happiest woman alive.

LUNAR MASS SHOOTING

The Lunar Festival is a special celebration of the Chinese New Year. It is an exciting time of year when families get together to enjoy feasts, special activities, and decorations. During the festival, it is traditional to give gifts such as red envelopes filled with money and to light firecrackers. People also enjoy watching dragon and lion dances, making lanterns, and participating in various parades and competitions. Many stated that they thought that it was only the fireworks going off until they heard sirens of emergency. The shooter was later found dead of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in a van he used to flee the scene but prior to this people are calling a man by the name of 'Brandon Tsaya' a hero because he was confronted by the shooter and disarmed by Brandon, a surveillance camera inside the shop is now circulating online.

First off, how are you? And please inform our audience "Kora" where your originally From?

I'm doing well, thank you! I'm Kora, a recording artist from the Bay Area. I'm originally from the San Francisco Bay Area, and it's always been a big part of my identity and my music.

What inspired you to pursue a career in music?

As a child, I was always drawn to music. I was fortunate enough to grow up in a household where music was valued and supported, and I was exposed to a wide range of genres and artists. I started playing instruments and joined choir at a young age, and as I got older, I became more and more interested in creating and writing my own music.

But it wasn't just my love of music that inspired me to pursue a career in it. I also wanted to use my platform as an artist to connect with people and make a positive impact on the world. I believe that music has the power to bring people together and inspire change, and I wanted to be a part of that. It's been a challenging journey, but it's also been incredibly rewarding, and I'm grateful for the opportunity to share my music with the

Who are some of the musicians you listen to?

I have a lot of favorite artists who have inspired and influenced my music. Some of my current favorites include Lakeyah, Drake, Alina Baraz, and Tems.

They are all incredibly talented and innovative, and are constantly pushing the boundaries of what's possible in music.

What have some of your biggest challenges been in the music business?

As a recording artist, there have been a number of challenges that I've faced over the years. One of the biggest challenges has been the constantly changing nature of the music industry. With the rise of streaming services and the decline of physical album sales, it's become increasingly difficult for artists to make a living off of their music.

Another challenge has been navigating the business side of the industry. As an artist, it's important to be able to manage your career and make strategic decisions, but it can be overwhelming to handle everything on your own. It's important to have a team of professionals to support you and help you make the right decisions.

Finally, the competition in the music industry can be intense, and it can be difficult to stand out and get noticed. There are so many talented artists out there, and it takes a lot of hard work and dedication to succeed.

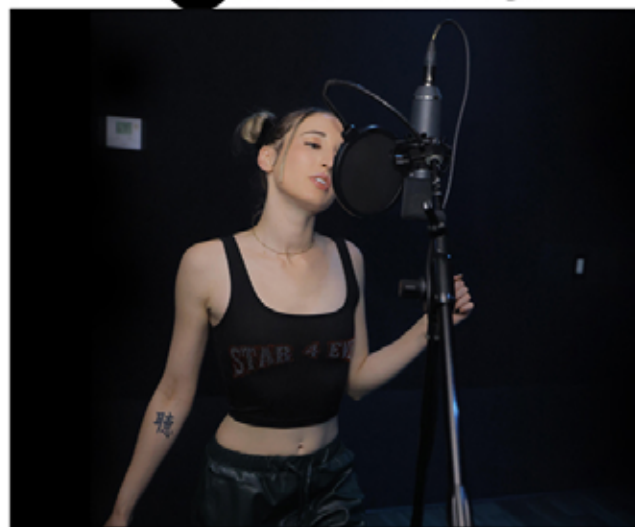

The music industry can be tough, but it's also incredibly rewarding. Despite the challenges, I'm grateful to share my music with the world and make a positive impact through my art.

What is it about music that makes you feel passionate?

For me, music is more than just a hobby or a career - it's a passion that's central to my identity. There are so many things about music that make me feel passionate and alive.

I love the creative process of making music. I find it incredibly rewarding to take an idea and turn it into something tangible and expressive. I also love the way that music has the power to connect with people on an emotional level. Whether I'm performing live or releasing a new track, I feel a deep sense of connection with my audience. I believe that music has the ability to bring people together and inspire change, and something that I'm incredibly passionate about.

I'm passionate about the way that music can help people to express themselves and find their own voice. As an artist, I feel a responsibility to use my platform to speak up and advocate for causes that I believe in. And I believe that music has the power to inspire people to do the same.

Are you about to release a new single or album? If so, when can we anticipate its release?

Yes, expect a new album from me. Summer 2023.

Who are your top 3 music producers that you hope to work with?

I'm open to working with talented producers, I don't have a list.

How can producers, investors, and booking agencies get in touch with you the most effectively?

There are a few different ways that producers, investors, and booking agents can get in touch with me most effectively. They can send me an email through my official website or through my management team.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

 www.plvent.com

1. To begin with, how are you? And could you please tell our audience where you are from, "Papi Love"?

Wassup, it's your Boi Papi Love. From West Please Phoenix, AZ by way of Minneapolis, Minnesota. I'm feeling like The Steaze, The Season, The Story, Mr. Right Now, A Nuttah Night, A Nuttah Blessing.

2. Who were some of your musical influences as a child and what inspired you to pursue a career as a hip-hop artist?

Growing up as a child I listened to R&B and a lot of soulful music. Artist like Lil Corey, Usher, 90's RnB. I merge into hip hop and rap listening to DMX, Twista, Eminem, Mystikal, Lil Jon, Snoop Dogg and Lil' Wayne. I've always been a music child. But I never took hip hop serious. Not until I start expressing myself with Grace. I use to sing. Now you can hear music from Jazz, Pop, Rock to Hardcore Rap listening to Papi Love.

3. What have some of your biggest challenges been in the music business?

Some of the biggest challenges in the music business has been keeping the flame lit. The passion, the drive. I an artist struggle with separating business and music. I tend to look at music as money which takes feel from the music. I feel as if you are an independent artist, managing direction and creating tends to clash. Trends tend to kill the vibe. Fun takes from the soul; and business takes the fun away. Also producing can be a hassle. So many different sounds.

4. What is your method approach and how long does it take you to write a record?

When it comes to making records I am all over the place. I might break out never used lyrics from when I was 15. Verses Freestyle an entire song on spot off the top of the head. Hook. Bridge and all. Leave it to solitude and I'll add. The kicks and snaps. I write music on any and everything. I am poet and often times I recite my poetry on a composed track. I am one of those artist who use a pen click for a hi hit. And a kitchen cup for reverb. Things can get interesting breaking down my tracks.

Q&A With Papi Love

5. Give an example of your worst performance. What did this experience teach you?

My worse performance would have to be a freestyle session I did after an interview with Phoenix Phridays. The interview was good. Then they asked me to kick a freestyle live on the radio and I blindly picked a beat egotistically and high key in my opinion "choked". The beat was not poppin, the vibe was over pumped. I was blinded by the lights and I thought it was the worse thing I've ever done when I left the studio.

I searched for the interview later in life and it was feasible but not to my standards. We will call it mumble rap.

I learned to come prepared. I like to freestyle off the top of the mind but it's safer to have something backing you up.

I learned to come prepared. I like to freestyle off the top of the mind but it's safer to have something backing you up.

6. What is it about music that evokes such strong emotions in you?

Music is a get away. Music is a drug. Music is a lifestyle. As far as I can remember it has always been music that has carried the torch in my life. The good times and the bad. I started making music to keep myself occupied. It was a way to express myself. I am quiet person. Nonchalant I'd say. I release endorphins when I rap. You can feel it in the air.
The anger
The stress.
The romance
The lust
The greed
The Wolf
The humility
The music

7. Do you engage in any pastimes or interests besides music?

No I do not. I have been making and breaking music since I was born. My maiden name is an RnB name. Music is the only interest I have carried from time to time. Everything else kind of wore out or only presents itself in a community setting.

8. Are you about to release a new single or album? If so, when can we anticipate its release?
